Definitions of Bear Types

- Jointed Bear: The arms and legs have joints that allow them to move up and down. This also provides a balance that allows the bear to sit on its own.
- Non-Jointed Bear: The arms and legs are sewn right into the body. This allows us to under-stuff a little to make it more "squishy". However, a non-jointed bear doesn't sit on its own well and needs to be leaned against something to sit up.
- Fur bears are bears made of any type of real or faux fur.
- Fabric Bears are made from a primary fabric-based garment (shirt, sweater, pants, suit, robe, coat, quilt etc). A secondary fabric MAY be used for contrast (on the tummy, muzzle or ears) and we can even use a third fabric for paw pads and ear pads but the fabrics are used as whole pieces, not patchworked together.
- Wedding Dress Bears are bears made from wedding dress, communion gown, christening gown materials.
- Patchwork/Neck Tie Bears are made from 4-12 neck ties or multiple items of clothing. We have to de-construct the ties or clothing and make a patchwork cloth from them before laying and cutting the bear patterns so they are time consuming.

Packing Instructions:

Put the garment (s) in the smallest box they will fit in. Don't worry about anything wrinkling, I will be taking it out of the box right away. Please don't send garment bags or bags that need to be returned.
